5. Male genital examination Wikipedia
   - April 14th, 2019 - Procedure: For the male genital examination, the exposure of the groin and genital area with adequate lighting is required. The ideal position is with the professional sitting in front of the patient. The examination may take place with the patient sitting or in supine position but to investigate possible varicocele and hernia, it is necessary that the patient is standing in front of the examiner.
