referral to the office, when a teacher is confronted with a misbehaving or non-compliant student, the challenging behavior presents a puzzle to be solved. Instructors skilled in resolving behavior problems know that effective behavior management is built upon three assumptions (Packenham, Shute, & Reid, 2004). A complaint letter to the principal of a school may be sent by a student, parent, or teacher employed in the school. Most states encourage the student, parent, or teacher to first explain their problem to their principal in person before sending a formal complaint letter.
