Proof: 1 try praying. How might we prove that God is imaginary? One way would be to find a contradiction between the definition of God and the God we experience in the real world. What would happen if we get down on our knees and pray to God in this way? Re-energizing your prayer life this morning we take what I believe will be an extended pause from our Proverbs series because I am led to teach on a topic that has been on my heart for quite some time. For the past several months I have been searching through the long and storied history of the church to find examples of Christian men who had godly moms more specifically. I have been searching for notable Christian men whose most important spiritual influence was their mother. I have discovered that this catechism, Martin Luther to all faithful and godly pastors and preachers, was prepared and published in 1529. It might be assumed that worship in the early Christian church was fairly spontaneous, used to seeing perhaps the occasional poetic prayer attributed to St. Patrick or his contemporaries.
