Know your audience and have a clear idea of what you want the profile to achieve. Be concise, a small business profile is a brief communication tool that carries plenty of weight whether you’re creating a website, Facebook page, or entry for a trade directory. Your business profile is an opportunity to showcase what you most want potential customers and other stakeholders to know about your company. Although small businesses have close relationships with their existing customers, finding new customers and reaching new markets is a major challenge for small business owners. Small businesses typically find themselves strapped for time to do marketing as they have to run the day to day aspects of the business. To write a business profile, use a standard font that’s easy to read and keep your profile short so potential customers aren’t overwhelmed or bored by it. Also, avoid using a lot of technical jargon or flowery language so that people can easily understand your profile.
