April 18th, 2019 - This course is designed to start SketchUp users off with the right foundation in SketchUp and to get them up and running quickly
This course will contain example based exercises that allow you to start modeling immediately. For those of you interested in learning SketchUp in a more leisurely manner, I would encourage you to choose the self-paced option during the course registration.

April 20th, 2019 - I am considering Anita Brown's courses as I would like to create quick and accurate floor plans for the clients. I heard about using AutoCad for this task, but many of my clients think this software is too hard to use. I am looking for an option where I can simplify the process, and SketchUp could be just the thing I need. I am impressed with the user interface, the tutorials, and how easy the training seems to be.
