diagnoses, the nursing care plan is an essential tool in the delivery of modern nursing care. The care plan is a document containing the three nuclear parts of the nursing process model: a nursing diagnosis describing the problem or need, the aim of the nursing care, and the interventions that have been planned to achieve the aim. The development of a pulmonary embolism (PE) care plan for a pulmonary embolism PE occurs when one or more pulmonary arteries in the patient's lungs have become blocked. It is possible that the pulmonary embolism was a result of a blood clot or clots that migrated from the lungs to the legs or even another part of the body. These clots from another part of the body, a psychosocial nursing diagnosis is specifically related to the psychological and social experiences of individuals and families related to life processes. NANDA International maintains an organized set of diagnoses including a psychosocial nursing diagnosis which allows nurses to efficiently understand the elements related to patient needs. A care plan for the elderly addresses the issues that may arise as one grows older and begins to lose his or her independence. Elderly care plans require resources from multiple areas to be effective. Physical therapy (PT) or physiotherapy is one of the allied health professions that by using mechanical force and movements, bio mechanics or kinesiology, manual therapy, exercise therapy, and electrotherapy, remediates impairments and promotes mobility and function. Physical therapy is used to improve a patient's quality of life through examination, diagnosis, prognosis, and exceptional discharge planning. Short-term care Medicare criteria include skilled nursing care services, assessment, coordination, services, recovery, observation, and assessment stabilization of disease process. Skilled rehabilitation includes return of prior function, care plan development, teaching and training, fitness and exercise, wellness, healthcare financing. Developing a care plan for the elderly is important if you have to take care of ageing parents or nursing an elderly relative at home. Developing a care plan is an important first step. Self-care and dressing are essential for maintaining personal hygiene and grooming. Nurses play a crucial role in converting nursing problem statements into nursing diagnoses quickly, easily, and accurately. The following is a complete listing of all NANDA nursing diagnoses through the 15th, leading in establishing care plans for them. What is a care plan? A care plan is an online document that shows the medical diagnoses and outlines the nursing care to be provided to a member. It is a set of actions the nurse will implement to resolve care coordination needs identified by nursing assessment and clinical judgment. Creating your holistic self-care plan is important. Many of us have so many responsibilities in life that we forget to take care of ourselves. Self-care is an important aspect of stress management; having a well-cared-for body can make you feel good about yourself and your life and conveys to others that you value yourself.

The types of nursing interventions that these discussions elicited are categorized in this report. This type of categorization should heighten the nurses' awareness of the importance of these issues in the nursing of CF patients with advanced disease. It should aid in the development of a nursing care plan which may serve as a framework for adolescent appropriate care in an adult acute care facility setting. The Sydney South Western Area Health Service developed a youth care plan which provides a framework for adolescent appropriate care.
